About Me

My name is Audra and I am a photographer based in the bay area who travels nationwide for wedding shoots.

Why should you choose me:

I am more than just a photographer. The decision for you should be based on more than just that. You are hiring someone that you hope can capture your special day exactly how you want to remember it years down the road.

I've photographed many weddings and can also be an incredible resource for you both as you plan your day. I know many vendors and tips and tricks to give you the best event possible.

I'm also a lot of fun and laid back. I've had clients tell me that they normally hate having their photo taken but that it's actually enjoyable with me as their photographer. Weddings can be a stressful time but I have a calming presence that can help ease you and everyone else on your big day!

I am available to have many video or phone chats with you to help figure out exactly what you want. Photos are some of the main ways to capture the memory of one of the most special days of your life. You want to pick a photographer that you vibe with and trust. I love what I do and would love to tell your story too!
